

ESCAPES FROM A FRIGHTFUL DEATH

MISS BEATRICE HART SERIOUSLY BURNED AT GOLDFIELD.

(Special to the Bonanza.)
GOLDFIELD, Feb. 1.—Miss Beatrice Hart, a former resident of Tonopah and a niece of George Brodigan, the county recorder, today narrowly escaped from being burned to death. Her presence of mind saved her home from destruction and herself from a frightful death. She could not escape, though, from being seriously burned, as she is now in bed suffering from her injuries, which, while serious, are not fatal.

The Harts had just moved into a new home on Euclid avenue, and there was an oil stove burning in one of the rooms to warm it up and dry the walls. Miss Hart happened to detect smoke coming from the room, and hurriedly opened the door to find herself in the midst of flames. The sudden draft caused the stove to explode, and the oil was sent spattering over her clothing. She ran in and smothered the flames from the stove before she realized that her clothing was on fire. The fierce heat soon made its effect apparent on her person, and she rushed from the house and rolled herself in the snow. The flames were reduced to smoke, and gathering herself up, she ran across the street to the court house, where are located the headquarters of her uncle, Mr. Brodigan. The latter, in company with Andy Roach, was just coming out the door.

Miss Hart's clothing was saturated with oil, and the wind fanned the flames into new life as she ran. Brodigan and Roach, with their own coats smothered the flames, and between them carried the suffering girl to her home, where she was attended to soon after by a physician, and put to bed. Her back and arms and legs were badly burned, and her sufferings were most severe. Her face was uninjured. Miss Hart is well known in Tonopah, where her sister is the wife of George Pyne, with Ryan and Stenson.

PLEASED WITH TRIP TO RAWHIDE

CONGRESSMAN BARTLETT SAYS CAMP LOOKS LIKE THE REAL THING.

Congressman George A. Bartlett, Malcolm Macdonald and George Thatcher, returned last night from Rawhide, and were very much pleased with their trip.

"Rawhide," said Mr. Bartlett, "has all the earmarks of a great camp, and I believe that she has the goods. She is far ahead of Tonopah and Goldfield in development work at the same age. I never saw a surface showing to equal that of the new camp, and I don't believe that anyone else ever did. The town, too, is ahead of anything that I ever saw in this country before. It is a lively, go-ahead town, with live, go-ahead people. There seems to be a good deal of business going on, and the way that real estate is advancing, as well as the prices of the properties is astonishing."

Mr. Bartlett will leave for Washington on the noon train today, going by the southern route.

STIMLER TO HAVE ELECTRIC SYSTEM

Stimler is in the list of shippers, and from present indications it will remain there for some time, at least until local means of treating the proposition are provided. The initial shipment was brought into Blair the early part of the week, and consisted of about ten tons. As rapidly as it will be possible to do so this will be increased until a forty-ton car can be loaded, which, should no storms interfere, will be early in the coming week. The ore is from the Watson-Irvine ground, and all of the many who have examined the workings within the past week say there is a magnificent showing, and, with the installation of the hoist, which arrived last Saturday, there should be a steady stream of high grade ore pouring forth.

The shaft will be put down to at least the 300-foot mark, and crosscuts driven to the ore shoot which has been tapped on the 90-foot level by a crosscut which is in thirty feet.

George Vickers, on a recent trip to the district, gave a practical illustration of the liberality with which the management of the property will be conducted. Extensions of all leases were promised where the lessors would sink to a specified depth, one which could be easily attained by windlass, if no other means were available, and will furnish to those wanting them, such hoists as he can secure in the properties operated by him in Goldfield. These concessions, alone, mark a policy hitherto unknown in mining circles, and when to this must be added a reduction in royalties, it marks a policy that should, and doubtless will, stimulate unwonted activity in the new camp, and bring it to the front very quickly.

Superintendent E. A. Quinn, of the Nevada-California Power Company, has been in the Stimler district this week, looking over the ground with a view to extending the line into camp. Mr. Quinn met with much encouragement and thinks the line will be extended shortly. It will branch off from the line now running to the Valcaldia pump station, at a point where the distance will be only about one and a half miles, and entering the district at the eastern end. Mr. Quinn states that surveys will be made at once, and the work begun as soon as the parallel line reaches Silver Peak, which will be early in February.

The bringing in of electric power speaks well for the permanency of the camp, possibly more so than anything else, and indicates a progressiveness on the part of those interested which argues well for the future.—Blair Press.

DEGENERATE FAINTS AT SOUND OF WORK

JUDGE BRISSELL HANDS PACKAGE TO ONE OF THE LOWEST.

Swan Erickson, who, like the illies, toiled not, neither does he spin, was up before Judge Brissell, and got the limit for several kinds of vagrancy. He was tried on the day before and was found guilty of every kind of vagrancy in the calendar.

Erickson fastened his affections on to a young woman of the sunset district, named Thelma, who was inexperienced in the wiles of the genus macquaroux. Experience later on brought to that pretty young thing that tired feeling, and she yearned to be rid of the creature; but the creature fain would stick, and he threatened to kill her if she did not yield to his attentions and contribute to his support. He grabbed her purse from her one afternoon near the postoffice, but returned it later, when he learned that she had told her troubles to a policeman. He was fired into the city basile, but his case was postponed for a day and on the promise of himself and his attorney that he would be on hand, was allowed his liberty. Next day he was gone.

This was more than a month ago, and he returned night before last, thinking that the matter had blown over. Detective Carberry was Sherlock Holmes on the spot, and nabbed him. Yesterday Judge Brissell gave him ninety days on the rock pile, and he fainted in court, when it was explained to him that he would have to go to work. He gave notice of appeal, acting as his own attorney.

"EAST LYNNE" WAS THE ATTRACTION

OLD TIME PLAY BROUGHT THE TEARS TO THE EYES OF MANY.

"East Lynne" was the peach of the Aylesworth engagement, for the dear old play has been proved the Rawhide production of the week. It was the strike that brought the rush to the pavilion. "East Lynne" is so well known that she could be set down in a strange city and find her way about blindfolded in the sloppiest weather. She has many friends and they were all there last night; they were there in tiers and tears. If the Butler pumps had not been pressed into service, there would have been a flood without a doubt; as it was the tide was high enough to float Bob Evans' battleship fleet.

It must have been raining in "East Lynne" all the time, and the best families probably had their own boats. Lady Isabel was a rain dear, but the best informed authorities declare that she was a chump, for letting go a good paying property for a wildcat like Sir Francis Levison. Levison was a stiff, and he got his; but that didn't do the girl any good. She was getting hers all the time. When they pinched Sir Francis Levison, Letson Balliet fell off his chair with a terrible noise, he was so afraid that Levison was going to be overlooked.

The band played all the time, "Then You'll Remember Me." You bet, old girl, we never could forget you. More tears. The ladies had their goloshes on, and the men wore big boots. They liked to splash around in the wet. When Madame Vine came in with the goggles on, you could hear the honk, honk of the automobile in the distance, and the chills and fever music of Eliza crossing the ice brought more weeps. It was a sad story. Why will these girls do this? We give it up. Hence the problem play.

Since "East Lynne" was born, there have been more problem plays than sums in arithmetic, but the problem is still unsolved, and perhaps never will be solved. The Harper company gave a very clever rendition of the old familiar, and Miss Harper could touch the lymphatic duct at will. In emotion plays she is at her best. In Lady Isabel and Madame Vine the sympathy was all hers till the end. Her scene at the death of the little boy was heart-rending in the extreme, and the taking off of the wayward wife, her dying in the peaceful surroundings of what had once been her home, touched every heart.

The engagement of the Harper company has been singularly successful and the theater loving people will be pleased to know that the popular company is to play a return engagement, commencing a week from tonight.

DWYER LEAVES UNITED STATES

Patrick Dwyer left last night with his mother and children for their old home in Canada. We understand that District Attorney Maestretti consented to his going on condition that he would never return to this State. If he does, Mr. Maestretti informed him that he would be arrested and prosecuted on the indictment hanging over him in Lander county. If Dwyer keeps his promise, Nevada is rid of him forever. This is very little retribution, however, for the crime he committed.—Elko Independent.

TESTIFIED DWYER WAS INSANE.

Reports from Elko are to the effect that the verdict in the Dwyer case was largely due to the testimony of Sheriff Murphy and Deputy Sheriff Oliver of Lander county. Both men testified that Dwyer was undoubtedly insane immediately after they arrested him, shortly after the murder and this evidence is claimed to have decided the jury. At the first trial both the officials testified, so it is said, that Dwyer was sane immediately after the shooting and that he showed no signs of alcoholic insanity.

On the first ballot the jury stood 10 to 2 favorable to the plea of insanity, but after spending all night wrestling with the question the entire jury decided the man was insane. According to the Elko papers the verdict did not meet the approval of the Elko people.—Carson News.

MINE OFFICERS ARE ACCUSED

GOLDFIELD, Feb. 1.—A sensational suit involving one of the best known of the old producers of the Lida mining district, has been filed by Captain T. W. Webb and Dr. Willard Y. Croxall of Goldfield as intervenors in the action of Francis H. Throop of San Francisco against the Lida Queen Mining Company for $30,000. The intervenors declare that Throop's claim is fictitious, and allege a conspiracy on the part of the officers of the company, several of whom are well known bankers and business men of San Luis Obispo, Cal., to deprive the minority stockholders of the property.

The plaintiffs claim that the property is capable of earning under capable management from $300 to $700 a day, and it worth conservatively $500,000. They allege that the Throop suit is part of a conspiracy to destroy the value of the stock; that the indebtedness for which Throop seeks to recover is fictitious, and was created without consideration. The plaintiffs name M. Lewin, a banker, of San Luis Obispo, president of the company; V. Tognazzini, secretary-treasurer; C. T. Greenfield, Benjamin Brooks, C. O. King, A. Luchessa and M. Tognazzini, officials of the company, as co-defendants.

The property involved is the old Buster mine, situated five miles west of the Lida, which was bought in 1905 from Henry Jagels for $25,000.
